HONGKONG, FEBRUARY 13th, 1894.

THE announcement that their Majesties the Emperor and Empress of Japan will hold celebration at the Imperial Palace at Tokyo on the 7th proximo to commemorate their silver wedding serves to direct attention, once more, to the ever widening divergence between the rulers of the two empires of the Far East. After the revolution of 1869 which destroyed the power of the Shogun, the Mikado stepped forth from his seclusion and became the visible and reigning monarch of his realm. And from that time His Ms jesty has continually shown bimself to his subjects, presiding at state functions, and making himself known and respected by rich and poor. Nor is this all. After promising his people a constitution and representative government, he in due time fulfilled hi pledge, and opened his first Parliament in China; Rules of Court of Consuls at Shang. | person. It is no fault of the Emperor's that hair Chinese Passenger And; Hongkong this experiment has so far proved only a qualified success. The people of Japan were, perhaps, hardly prepared for so great change, and have yet to learn how to use the suffrage and the right of free speech. The Japanese Majestics are not only in sympathy to the head of the long-suffering sharewith and take a ready interest in the welfare and although eplarged and improved in every of the people, but also play the part of civilised and enlightened sovereigns to the rulers and representatives of other Powers. The Foreign Ministers in Tokyo are received audience by the Emperor of Japan with the same distinction and consideration as shown to them in European Courts. When too, European princes and distinguished personages visit Japan they are always hospitally received and presented to the The Foreign Ministers are accorded a grudgbeing considered something like profanation to allow a Western barbarian to sully the sacred precincts of the Palace with his finds nor honour, nor respect, nor civility, of existence but the recollection of which peror e marriage two years later, he was not entrusted with absolute sovereignty, and though the Empress Dowager has since retited into private life it is doubtful whather holm even now. There seems little doubt that, like his predecuseors, he is ruled by cabals in the Palace, and through it is reportd that he is of a somewhat obstinate and imperious disposition, he has as yet given no sign of the possession of either great will German mails with dutes from Borlin of the 15th or moderate ability. writer of the letter which appears in an-[375] other column concerning the directorate of the Wharf and Godown Company were conceded we would see considerable changes in the boards of many of our public companies. "An Absent Shareholder" is of opinion that directors should either be substantial contributors of business or hold a large interest in the Companies they assist in directing. Of the soundness of this principle there can be no question, but in Hongkong it is frequently departed

ly as in some large financial centres, where the guinea-pig director is a well known feature of the commercial world. The difference in this respect is not so great as it used to be and is being gradually reduced but the reasons for which the guinea-pig director is supported here are not quite the same as elsewhere and are perhaps a little more creditable, if not to the head at least to the heart of the shareholder. Of the particular case to which our correspondent refers we have no knowledge, either as to the interest held by the director to whom exception is taken or as to the amount of business contributed by his firm. When he was invited to join the board it was no doubt for what were considered good and substantial reasons, and until the contrary is shown wo must assume that his counsel is worth the fee paid for it. At all events, the case belongs to quite a different category from that to the existence of which we have refurred as being more oreditable to the heart than holders. We see in this colony gentlemen holding a plurality of directorates although they individually and the firms they represent have ceased to exercise any per ceptible influence on the course of business and the value of their counsel is no longer extent in Shanghai and has been protested the 500 yards, and Sergt McLeyoun the 600 against at meetings, but there share spoon for the mogration rid. holders are not quite so sheeplike as here. From it you will have gen tipal the main reason for the shortcomings in and revenue and consequent reduction in this year's dividend bas been the great fallingimports of Bembay yatu. The storage of this commodity has formed one of principal sources of revenue for the Company; and you may imagine the difference to us when I tell you that at the end of 1899 the whole stock of Bombay yarn in this colony amounted to hardly half our storage on the 30th April last. Of course, we are not dependent on this staple alone for our income, but the latter half of the past year was also in other respects unfavourable to the storage business. The unusually small stocks of coal made godowns used rdingrily for the storage of doal compete with: pers, whilst owing to the low exchange the siness of imported goods from Europe were herd took the hand one magregate spoon. For years Rosa Bonhour has been lost to ight, though the famous artist ever remains o memory dear. She is quite well, resides in a cottage near a wood-the border of Fontainebleau forest close to the hamlet of "By." She is as gny and as hard a worker as when in her teens though now on the shady side of seventy. She resides quite alone, if in close community with Nature and her own Liouvis gallery of paintings can be called isolation. Her guards are the villagers; her intimate companions, "two dogs," her ironelads, with "Troy, Blanche, and Sweetheart," for torpedo duty.
